NPRG's Principal Analyst to Speak at 2012 RTC Conference

Illinois Institute of Technology Conference Focuses on Real-Time Communications Issues

Chicago, IL – New Paradigm Resources Group, Inc. (NPRG), a premier source for strategic information for innovators within the communications industry, today announced that Craig M. Clausen, Executive Vice President & Principal Analyst will be a moderator at the Real-Time Communications Conference & Expo on September 10-12, 2012 in Chicago, IL.

Clausen will be moderating the panel, "Unified Communications and Collaboration." The panel will discuss the role cloud platforms and mobility are playing within today's telecommunications industry and how these abilities are causing traditional companies to adjust to these new technologies. Included in the planned discussion is a look at the role voice services play within these technologies and then separate fact from fiction on whether businesses need to adopt this new thinking of collaboration. "Given the importance of improved collaboration tools and integrated communications methods within the communications industry, the timing of this discussion is ideal," said Clausen. "I'm looking forward to facilitating this discussion."

The conference, focusing on interaction with senior level operator, government and equipment vendors, will be the 8th Annual conference for the Illinois Institute of Technology. Leveraging its unique academic setting, this annual conference brings together technical professionals and business executives from the data and telecommunications industry, standards bodies, policy and regulatory institutions, and academic educators and researchers to promote an open exchange of ideas to lead future development in the rapidly changing field of real-time communications.
